

Amnesty International and Anti Slavery International

SPOTLIGHT ON SLAVERY

North Korea: Behind the headlines

Thursday 20 September at 7pm

At Amnesty International UK, The Human Rights Action Centre, 17 – 25 New Inn Yard, London EC2A 3EA

Admission free. No booking required.

PROTECT THE HUMAN

More than 100,000 people are thought to have been imprisoned without charge and forced into hard labour in North Korea simply because they, or their relatives, have been critical of the regime. This evening of discussion and debate will include extracts from the BBC film Access to Evil which features remarkable footage from within this secretive state.

Speakers will include:

Olienka Frankiel, BBC journalist and the film's presenter

Norma Muico, Education and Advocacy Officer for Anti Slavery International and author of a recent report on forced labour in North Korea

Plus speakers from Amnesty International and Human Rights Watch

A North Korean asylum seeker is forcibly removed from the Japanese consulate, 2002

© Citizens' Alliance for North Korean Human Rights

Amnesty International
The Human Rights Action Centre
17-25 New Inn Yard
London EC2A 3EA