Top films and directors of 2000-2009

Poll of polls

The poll of polls aggregates the results of 11 “top 10 films of the decade” lists from the following sources:

- Koreanfilm.org critics:
 - Darcy Paquet
 - Kyu-hyun Kim
 - Adam Hartzell
 - Davide Cazzaro
 - Hong Jiro
 - Lance Crayon
- London Korean Links
- Korea Pop Wars
- ROK Drop
- Spoons-Fiddlesticks
- Modern Korean Cinema

Where critics clearly ranked their selection, LKL’s poll of polls gave 10 points to the top film, down to 1 point for the 10th film on the list: therefore each critic has 55 points to be allotted between the different films. Where the critic did not rank his or her list, each film received 5.5 points.

If a film had been at the top of every critic’s list, it would have received 110 points. The score for the director is the sum of the scores for each of the films by that director.

Critics were not necessarily consistent in the way they picked their ten (or in special the case of Darcy, eleven) films. Some felt constrained only to include one film per director, others were happy to include several. So this isn’t a scientific exercise: it’s just a bit of fun.
