

From South Korea to the World: Korean Literature in Translation

17 September 2026 | 10:00–16:30 | University of Leeds Campus

Lunch and afternoon refreshments provided.
Limited spaces available.

Join us for a day exploring how Korean stories travel from the writer's desk to readers around the world, and how translation brings contemporary Korean literature to global audiences.

Featuring:

Kim Keum-hee

- The multi-award-winning novelist

Hwang Bo-reum

- The bestselling and award-winning novelist

Clare Richards

- The internationally renowned, award-winning literary translator shaping how the world reads

Dr Eugene Kim (SOAS)

- Scholar of Korean literature

What to expect:

- Live readings by featured authors
- In-depth Panel discussion
- Extended interactive Q&A with all speakers

Funded by the Literature Translation Institute of Korea
and the School of Languages, Cultures and Societies.
Hosted by the East Asian Translation research satellite.
Flag icons are made by frdmn from www.flaticon.com.